STRIKE IS IMMINENT

Agreement Expires on March 31st

-Miners and Operators
Cannot Agree

7,000 MINERS WILL BE IDLE

Daily Payroll Is Over $20,000-A

List of the Mines
Affected

After lengthy deliberations by both the mine operators and district 18 of United Mine Workers of America, without coming to any satisfactory settlement, about 7,000 miners engaged in the said district will throw down their picks and shovels at the close of this month and go on strike.

The two-year agreement between the Western Coal Operators Association and District 18, of U. M. W. of A., expires at 12 p.m. on the last of this month and although great efforts have been made by both parties to have another agreement drawn up by the time the old one expires, they have not been successful and their last conference was abruptly closed at 4.15 p.m. on Friday last.

Just how long this strike will last is hard to say. The operators have determined to make no further concessions to the men, while the latter declare that they will remain on strike until the present stock of coal is exhausted and they hope to be then able to force the operators to open their mines. However, some of the miners have ventured to say that the mines will not be closed more than three or four weeks.

The daily output of coal in the district affected, is 12,000 tons; number of mines idle, 16; the daily payroll which the 7,000 miners and this district will lose will be over $20,000.

The following is a list of companies affected by the strike: Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company of Coal Creek and Michel Hosmer Mines, Ltd., Hosmer Corbin Coal Company, Corbin.

International Coal & Coke Company, Ltd., Coleman. West Canadian Collieries Ltd., Blairmore, Lillie and Bellevue.

Canadian Coal Consolidated Ltd., Frank.

Hillcrest Coal & Coke Company, Hillcrest.

Maple Leaf Company, Maple Leaf.

The Davenport Coal Company, Burnis.

The Leitch Collieries, Passburg.

The Bankhead Mines, Bankhead.

H. W. McNeil Company, Canmore.

The Royal Collieries, Diamond Coal company, Alberta Railway & Irrigation Company, and the Chinook Company, Lethbridge.

Must Serve Eight Years

J. M. Massey, who arrived at Frank on January 10th and who soon after started a dry goods business in the Goyette building, was last week sentenced to eight years imprisonment at Moose Jaw for obtaining goods under false pretences and also for forgery.

Spur Line to Brick Works

The Blairmore Brick Works are about to have a spur line built from the railway track at the mines to the brick kilns. Men will be put to work at this immediately so that it will be completed early in April. This spur line will be quarter of a mile in length and will be a splendid convenience as well as a great saving to the brick company in shipping their product.

Happenings in and Around Blairmore

The trains have all been making pretty good time lately and the O. P. R. is giving us excellent service these days.

A meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church, will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Chestnut on Thursday afternoon next.

Rev. Mr. Todd, M. A., B. D., arrived in town on Tuesday to assume the pastorate of the Presbyterian church here.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Drain left on Tuesday morning for Spokane and Seattle, the "flyer" stopping at Blairmore for them.

J. E. Boyle, the license holder of the Cosmopolitan hotel, appeared in court on Friday morning last, charged with having the bar room windows obstructed during promiscuous hours. The case was adjourned until (today) Thursday.

Mrs. Gebo's millinery parlors were opened on Friday and a large crowd inspected her splendid stock of large, small and medium hats. Mrs. Gebo has all the latest creations in millinery, and the number of her patrons have already grown quite large.

Rev. J. F. Hunter received a nicely decorated post card through the mail this week, on which was printed: "If Preachers knew more about this life, they would revise their sermons on the next." Mr. Hunter has therefore decided to use as his subject on Sunday evening next: "Some Things Preachers Know."

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church gave a tea and bazaar in the Mercantile hall on Wednesday (yesterday) evening. Fancy prices were realized for some of the articles and the affair was a splendid success. The proceeds have been placed to the building fund of the new church which will be erected on Mountain View.

The number of ladies that have visited the millinery parlors of Mrs. Clifford since her opening last week, is perhaps larger than any that have ever been known in The Pass since the wearing of the "Merry Widow" hat. Mrs. Clifford has many of the latest Parisian, London and New York styles and her stock of ladies' head covers is large and good.

Rev. A. J. Langlois is disposing of his household furniture preparatory to his leaving to assume the pastorate of a large church at Montreal. Many say that Mr. Langlois' efforts in building up a good church during his short stay in Blairmore, have been untiring and that they have been crowned with considerable success. Mr. Langlois has done more for the Presbyterian church in Blairmore during his six months stay here than all the other ministers of that church have done for six years.

INCREASED ACTIVITY

More Machinery Has Been Installed-Work Will Be Resumed Next Week

AT BLAIRMORE BRICK WORKS

Daily Output Now Over 40,000-Will Be Increased-Demand Far Greater Than Supply

Work at the Blairmore Brick Works will be resumed in the course of another week or so when that place will assume greater activity than ever.

This plant was closed down about three months ago just for the winter. During that time the plant has been thoroughly overhauled and more machinery has been installed. Two mammoth grinders, two Fraser & Chalmers rollers and two screens are amongst the latest additions which the Blairmore Brick Works have made to their plant.

On Tuesday we had the privilege of going through this large and splendidly equipped plant which was put in operation during our visit. W. G. Shera, the secretary-treasurer of the company took us through the plant and showed us the mechanism and workings of the different machinery. The manager, F. Pendergrast, informed us that there would be considerably more brick manufactured this season than last.

A large continuous kiln will be commenced as soon as the frost is out of the ground. This kiln will have a capacity of over 40,000 brick a day. There are at present three other large kilns which have a daily capacity of 40,000 brick. With this extra one, the daily output will be greatly increased. Besides this, the brick which will be manufactured this year will be even better than that previously turned out by this plant.

The demand for this splendid product is increasing all the time. Orders for several million bricks have been received from Vancouver, and as soon as the C. P. R. builds the new spur to the plant, two or three million bricks will be loaded on the cars and shipped to the Pacific coast. Orders for Blairmore brick are being received at the office here, from all points, and large builders who have used it say that it is some of the best brick manufactured in Western Canada.

Here and There

It is estimated that the cost of the tobacco consumed in the world annually is in the region of one hundred and fifty million dollars.

Fully 125 persons lost their lives in accidents which befell New England, Canadian and Newfoundland vessels and other craft which met disaster in Western Atlantic waters during the fall and winter season now ending.

In a man-eating shark, recently captured in the Straits of Juan de Fuca, British Columbia, some fishermen found the remains of a man and a camera. It is presumed that the photographer and the shark tried to "snag" each other, and that the shark, which was thirty-six feet long and weighed 15 tons, won.

Another Modern Miracle Locomotor Ataxia Cured

The Sufferer Had Been Given Up as Incurable by Several Doctors—Hospital Treatment Also Failed—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Worked the Miracle.

Before the discovery of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, locomotor ataxia was considered an incurable disease. It has been easily demonstrated, however, that this disease can be cured through the use of these pills, where the treatment is persisted in, and the directions carefully followed. Locomotor ataxia is a disease of the spinal cord, and first shows itself in an inability to stand erect when the eyes are closed, or in the dark. It is characterized by peculiar disturbances of the gait, and difficulty in governing the motions of the legs. One of the commonest and earliest signs is a tired feeling, particularly noted in the knees and ankles. This sensation is provoked by slight exertion, and is not relieved by rest. Often a numb feeling is associated with it, and these two symptoms are always present in the early stages. As the disease progresses, there is an increase in the duration and extent of the numb feelings, covering at times the foot alone, then extending to the leg. The disease is usually of slow growth, and the increase and intensity of the symptoms is not noticed, but its progress is constant, and generally approaches a total lack of feeling in the legs, causing a wobbling gait and an entire inability to govern the steps. As the disease progresses the patient loses all control over bowels and water, and becomes utterly helpless, and has to be cared for like a child.

In proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to cure this terrible malady, Mrs. Sarah Jane Fuller, of Antler, Sask., says: "For seven years from 1900 to 1907, my son James was afflicted with locomotor ataxia. During that time he was treated by several of the best doctors in the West, but their treatment failed to be of any benefit, and he kept growing weaker and worse. At last he lost all control of his limbs, and could not move at all. I had to carry him from his bed to a chair, where I would have to tie him, to enable him to sit up. He was as helpless as an infant; he lost all control of his kidneys and bowels, and we daily looked for death to relieve him of his suffering. In 1908 we sent him to Brandon Hospital, hoping that the treatment there would benefit him. In this, though, we were disappointed, and the hospital doctor advised me to take him home, as they said they could do nothing for him. At this time a friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Being willing to try anything in the hope of finding relief for my boy, I bought a supply. In less than three months I noted a slight improvement in his condition. In six months he could walk once more, and from that on the improvement continued, till now he is fully cured and once more able to attend school and do the chores about the house. What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for him is truly wonderful, and I would strongly recommend them to all sufferers, for they most certainly saved my boy's life."

In substantiation of what Mrs. Fuller says, Mr. A. E. Steele, the well-known lumber and coal dealer of Antler, writes: "With reference to what Mrs. Fuller says concerning her son's cure by Pink Pills, I have no hesitation in saying that what she says is absolutely true in every particular, as I am personally acquainted with the case."

This great cure is not the only one performed by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have brought thousands back to health and strength after some of the best doctors in the country have been forced to give up the case as incurable. Not only in cases of locomotor ataxia, but in cases of partial paralysis, sciatica, acute rheumatism, and many other severe ailments have they been successful. The whole secret of their wonderful success is in their power to make rich, red, health-giving blood, the one essential for good health. The pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or direct by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What He Was Worth

Robert Burns was once standing on a long pier on the water front of Edinburgh. A well-known and wealthy merchant, walking by, stopped and fell into the water. He could not swim and so sank. When he arose for the third time nobody dared to save him, but an old weatherbeaten sailor, at the risk of his own life, ran up the pier and, jumping in, rescued the man.

The gentleman had been worked over quite a while before he became conscious, and when he realized the situation he rewarded his rescuer with what in our money would amount to twenty-five cents. At this the crowd which had gathered, knowing the wealth, hooded and jeered. But Burns, who was standing by, quieted them and said: "Surely the gentleman knows what his life is worth."

A Prodigal's Poetry

The ten-year-old daughter of an artist attended her first church wedding, and so filled with inspiration was she that she immediately began to write a poem descriptive of the event.

A few days afterward, when her mother was entertaining friends, the youthful prodigy asked permission to read her poem before the guests. And her mother humored her with not a little secret pride.

Stanzas by stanzas the poem progressed until the young lady reached the point where the description of the bridesmaids was set forth. There one of her couplets read thus: "Brids had pugs noses and some had foms."

And each wore a blue ribbon about her abdomen."

On sale Everywhere—There may be country merchants who do not know Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, though they are few and far between and they may suggest that some other oil is just as good. There is nothing so good as a liniment or as an internal medicine in certain cases. Take no other. The demand for it shows that it is the only popular oil.

Here is an explanation of the famous initiative, referendum, and recall about which we are hearing so much these days. Mr. Man goes home and announces that he is going to vote. That's the initiative. The lady of the house says: "Are you?" in that ascending voice which seems to walk over the top of his nerves. That's the referendum. Then Mr. Man sits down and reads his paper. That's the recall.—Rockford, Ill., Star.

Some time ago a young couple were being married at the parish church, Halifax. The bride's name was Faith, and the name of the minister, her sister, was Patience. During the ceremony the bridegroom, became once or twice rather too premature in his responses to the minister, and the latter exclaimed: "Have patience, man!"

The prospective bride turned an offended eye on the clergyman and said:

"Aw, sell do nowt, o' the soart. If aw can't have Faith, Owi'll be' wedded."

After mutual explanations the ceremony proceeded, and the happy away became wedded to his Faith.

A certain American judge has a dry wit that is occasionally the cause of very audible tittering through his grim courtroom. The other day one of the attorneys was airing his indignation. He had been robbed—"Yes, sir, robbed!" It was shameful the way things went right there under the eye of the law. Finally the judge noticed the tugging and fretting one.

"What's the matter now?" he asked.

"Matter? It's a confounded outrage! Had my overcoat stolen right from this room."

The judge smiled a little.

"Overcoat, eh?" he said.

"That's nothing! Whole suits are lost here every day."

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

It makes no difference whether it is millinery, skirts or gowns—the present season cannot escape anything new under the sun. The deeper we dig into the historical and traditional past, the more we realize we are legacies of the old days and races.

There was Mercury, the winged messenger of the Gods—behold the little cap-like bit of millinery and the wing trimming that is named after the feet-footed one, which adorns the puffs and curls of the swift-fingered stenographer.

The ridiculous "hobble-skirt" would for dynasties of time have hampered the Chinese women's walking even if their feet were not crippled.

The "hobble" is not only the native Chinese woman's straight, narrow style of skirt, but the queen Egyptian and Assyrian figures on stones unearthed by Archaeologists are extremely hobbled.

Centuries ago Russia and the European continent were swept by an epidemic of an influenza type that passed into history. Now and then it cropped out again in limited areas. Over twenty years ago the whole world was swept by this same disease in an even more form and generally named "La Grippe." Since then year by year we have known and experienced the grippe, the grippe germ in all its forms and force. Much has been learned about the proper treatment of these cases, but the best specialists and doctors have agreed that the standard food-medicine which has done duty for nearly forty years is still the sheet-anchor for all Grippe victims. Scott's Emulsion relieves the cough, lessens the shivers and relieves the prostrating weakness of this disease by thoroughly nourishing every part of the body with the oil food which the health of the body requires when Grippe germs are active. The Emulsion is especially useful in the lung form of the present epidemic which is the most severe and widespread we have had for more than twenty years.

MISSIONARY PIONEERS

The Gospel Has Paved the Way for Empire.

It may not be generally known, but it is none the less a fact that we owe several of our best acquisitions of territory to the work of missionaries. We give a batch of illustrations from the latest recruiting ground, Africa.

The expansion of South Africa is largely the work of the missionaries. In Bechuanaland the northern route was for a long time kept open solely by their influence. Some of the earliest roads were known as "Missionary Roads," and many place-names prove the memory of individuals.

Indirectly the missionaries account for the Transvaal and Orange River Provinces, our latest acquisitions. For, though we had to pay £300,000 for the war of conquest, in contrast to the inexpensiveness of missionary labor, it was nevertheless the latter that the great Boer trek of 1838 was due, which resulted in the founding of the republics. For had not Dr. Philip been so dogmatically a champion of the natives and stood an adviser of the Government, the Boers would never have moved out.

On the subject of the Boers of Johannesburg it is unnecessary to speak; but we must not forget that the Boers are a people of successful incursions of Englishmen, and that John Mackenzie, the missionary, was a Boer.

Mackenzie who saved the native states from extinction by the Boers, and as Deputy-Commissioner of Bechuanaland, helped to found that province. It has been said that if his advice had been heeded, the Boer war would have been averted. And a high authority has added that if the Boers had been heeded, the Boers of the empire the whole of the nine Kaffir wars might also have been saved.

The Moffat Treaty of 1888 with the Matabele laid the foundation of Rhodesia for us. Yet that treaty was the work of a missionary, the Rev. J. S. Moffat, son of the famous Dr. Moffat.

Basutoland, the Switzerland of South Africa, we owe to a French missionary, Collard, of the Saut du Marais, the able Basuto chief, governed with a cabinet of French missionaries. After inflicting a severe defeat on our forces in 1862, he wrote to their commander a letter in which he offered peace, saying, "I am satisfied of what happened yesterday. Let it be forgotten. Oh, my master, I am still your man. I am still the child of the Queen. After such a polite and Christian spirit it is not surprising to find that in 1863 we were received under our protection on the most favorable terms. The Basutos are now under British rule, and have made greater progress in civilization than any other Kaffir race. Their imports in 1893 were £288,760.

Basutoland also, now known as Northwest Rhodesia, is due to French missionaries. It is as though the German empire, it did not cost us a single line. Collard advised Letim, a single line, the king, to put him under the protection of some European nation, and with great disinclination recommended the British. Convinced by past experience of the good judgment of our missionary, Letim agreed, and in consequence his country became a British protectorate in 1869.

Northwest Rhodesia, again, we owe to Stewart of Lovedale. By his exertions the British empire, he supplied Lord Salisbury with the information on which he formed the protectorate of the Shire country. By the founding of Livingstonia he did much more still to establish our empire, and as it was we were only just in time to anticipate the great partition of the continent, and to resist the Portuguese claim to the Nyassa region as well. As Cecil Rhodes once said, "We owe all Rhodesia to you Scotch missionaries."

Or as Stewart dramatically put it, "The frontier has advanced on the stepping-stones of missionary graves."

General Gordon's Heroic Wife.

Through the entire civil war Gen. Gordon's wife accompanied him, never leaving his side save when the exigencies of campaign made his presence impossible. To the faithful devotion of his wife Gen. Gordon owed his life. In the bloody battle of Sharpsburg, Gordon, while in the midst of the carnage, was shot five times. As soon as he fell his wife rushed to his side and carried him to safety, staunching the flow of blood and attending to his wounds until medical aid could be procured. She remained with him in the hospital until he had recovered, and when Gen. Gordon went back to join his command Mrs. Gordon followed her.

A Vanished Island.

Volcanic islands have frequently appeared and disappeared in the various oceans. A British man-of-war once sailing near where such an event took place, and its crew had a chance to witness that seldom seen occurrence.

As it was possible the British captain landed and formally annexed the new land to the British Empire. Then he hoisted the Union Jack and sailed away. He expected to be knighted for his enterprise, but when another ship was sent out to take a look at the island and report upon its availability as a naval post for supplying passing ships the new-found island had vanished entirely.

A Queer Funeral.

One day some years ago a man passing along a street in a central district of London dropped into a gully that suddenly yawned for him. He had been so long on the street that had been bricked over 150 years before and forgotten. The depth of the shaft was so great that the man's feet had preceded the recovery of his body, so the borough authorities had religious duty to dig him out. The mayor or dropped a handsome wreath into it, and it was once more covered up and arched with brick.

Peter E. Dinklage relieves his physical handicap by becoming a comedian for many years. He lay it to laughter and was one of the best comedians in the country and didn't care whether he worked or not. I remember once when he looked at me and guessed my career. Imaginative dreams at night weakened away like aches and pains. The back of my head, hands and feet were sore in this resting position. My fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair broke, memory poor. I became an invalid and in this stage I told my friends and family that I was going to be a comedian and tried many first-class piano clubs, where no comedy had for three months but none of them would take me.

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind.—"Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bleed, and suffer from bearing down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My neighbor, Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, advised me to take her Vegetable Compound. After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—Mrs. MARY DEAR, Winchester, Ind.

Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

HERE IS A TALE WITH A MORAL

LITTLE EDITH HARRIS CURED OF DROPSY BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Two doctors said she would die, but today she is as healthy, happy girl. Healthy kidneys in children the guarantee of a happy, useful life.

Edith Harris, (Special)—That no child is too young to have Kidney Disease even in its worst form, and that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it in any form has been abundantly proven in the case of little Edith Harris of this place.

In May, 1903, this little girl, then two years old, was so swollen with dropsy that her weight was increased from 15 inches to 34 inches. Two doctors said she must die. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

Today she is a merry and healthy child as is to be found in the neighborhood.

In a recent interview her father says: "Edith is better than ever. She has no return of dropsy since she was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills over seven years ago. She goes to school and is as healthy as I am."

"There's a moral for parents in this story. Many a child is born with the kidneys neglected. A life of health and usefulness is lost if the kidneys are kept in order with Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Milk tumblers should be washed in cold water. Putting them into hot water will cloud the glass permanently.

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Baby's Own Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones. They never fail to give relief to the baby when his stomach or bowels are out of order.

When the baby is teething, when worms make their appearance or when any of the many childhood ailments arise, Baby's Own Tablets are absolutely safe and cannot harm the youngest child. Mothers have used them for generations.

Thousands of mothers, mothers-in-law, grandmothers, and nurses have used them for their children. Strongly recommended them. Mrs. E. J. Ward, Galt, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for over two years and would not be without them in any house. They are the best medicine I have ever used for my children."

Real Modesty
"An actor should be modest, and most actors are," said James K. Hackett, at luncheon.

"But I know a young actor who, at the beginning of his career, carried modesty almost too far."

"This young man inserted in all the dramatic papers a want advertisement that read: 'Engagement wanted—Small part, such as dead body or outside shoes, preferred.'"

A LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER'S STORY

From the lighthouse at Lobster Cove Head, Bonaville Bay, Newfoundland, Mrs. Young sends an account of a recent experience.

"I have a small lighthouse, which certainly act as a true beacon light, guiding all ships from a safe harbor of refuge."

Mrs. Young says: "I suffered with a skin disease for many years. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning—especially when the affected parts were warm—was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed, it turned to bad sores, and caused great pain. I went to a doctor and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no benefit, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief, so tried a third doctor, and then a fourth. Although they all did their best for me I got no relief from my pain."

"Seven years is a long time to suffer and I had got so tired of being thought that I never would be cured when I saw a report in 'The Family Herald' telling how benevolent Zank-Buk was in cases of skin diseases. I thought there would be no harm in giving this medicine a fair trial, and bought some."

"Well, from the use of the very first box I saw Zank-Buk was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful. It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zank-Buk all that was claimed for it, and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case."

Not only for eczema, but for ulcers, poisoned wounds, cuts, cold sores, chapped lips, piles, ringworm, children's eruptions, and all skin ailments and skin diseases. Zank-Buk will be found unequalled. All druggists and stores have Zank-Buk, or post free from Zank-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

The Little Man at the Pillar.
Close to the famous clock in the Cathedral of Strasbourg there is a little man in stone gazing up at the angle's spire of the cathedral. Long ago the little man who is now sculptured in stone stood upon his feet and blood. He used to stare up at the pillar with a criticizing eye which swept it from top to bottom and again from bottom to top. Then he would shake his head doubtfully each time. It happened once that a sculptor passed the cathedral and saw the little man looking up as if he did not like the looks of the pillar.

"It seems to me that you are finding fault with the pillar, my good fellow," said the stonemason, and the little man nodded as if pleased to be found out.

"Well, what do you think of it? Speak out, my man," said the sculptor.

"The pillar is fine enough," the little man said slowly. "The figures on it are beautiful, but I fear that slender pillar cannot hold up the heavy weight much longer. Soon it will totter and fall, and all will go to pieces."

"You shall stay right where you are, always gazing at the pillar until it falls under the heavy weight," said the stonemason.

And he brought from his workshop his hammer and chisel and made in stone a figure of the little man just as he was, looking upward with a knowing face and an important air. And there this little figure in stone stands to-day, awaiting the fall of the pillar.

Ninety "Not Out."
"If I had my life to live again I would, without hesitation, be a Free Churchman," said a minister who was such golden opportunity for the man with a Christian message as to-day."

That Dr. Guy Rogers, the veteran preacher, orator, and politician, who recently expired upon his ninetieth birthday, was a Free Churchman.

He was a Free Churchman, and in the old days of sixty-five years and is the oldest surviving ex-chairman of the Congregational Union. And, in spite of his great age, his voice is still as clear as a bell, and his energy amazing. Needless to say, he has some interesting recollections, and can look back to the time when there was hardly a leafy paper in the province. In the house of his father, a minister, they had to be satisfied with a weekly journal which cost fivepence a copy. To-day, as he once remarked, porters pick out of an empty train more newspapers than were taken in a whole town seventy years ago.

Planning the House.
"Well," said Gifford Berrington cheerfully, "I've got the plans for my new house on the lake shore all finished."

"Finished to suit you?"

"No. But the architect is satisfied, and that's the best I can expect."

"His? How about Mrs. Berrington?"

"All right with her too. In fact, she's the only one who hasn't started. You see, she laid out the cupboards and wardrobes, and all the architect had to do was to build a house around them."

Beginning of the Year.
January 1 was not made New Year's day in England until 1751. The proper beginning of the year is in fact the first day of the month of January, when all nature is new. Before January 1 was adopted by the English Parliament as the legal beginning of the year March 25 was the date. In the Roman calendar also March was the first month.

Home Course in Health Culture

XVI.—Emergencies In the Home

By EUGENE L. FISK, M. D.

Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.

NOWTWITHSTANDING all that has been written and uttered regarding "man's inhumanity to man," the first impulse of the average man is to help a fellow being in distress. This is well exemplified by the agility with which half a dozen people unasked will chase a cat that has been blown off.

When accident or disease occurs in the household, however, successful assistance is not so easily rendered as in the case of the wind-blown cat. The most willing hands and heads may bring injury rather than relief through an excess of zeal and ignorance of how to direct it.

Fainting Spells.

Ordinary fainting spells, excluding cases of unconsciousness, due to heart disease, kidney trouble, apoplexy, etc., may be due to a number of causes—shock, indigestion, eye strain, lack of food, lowly trouble, etc. In such cases the patient should be placed in a reclining position, with the feet higher than the head and the clothing loosened about the neck and chest. Cold water dashed in the face will usually suffice to restore consciousness. Aromatic spirits of ammonia, inhaled or rubbed on the temples, will also be of service. The patient is able to swallow fifteen to thirty drops in a wineglass of water is a good restorative. Strong ammonia should not be applied to the face of an unconscious person, as extreme irritation of the mucous membrane may result before the patient becomes conscious of it.

An impending faint may be prevented by having the patient place his head in his hands and lower his knees while sitting down. This straining position tends to retain the blood in the upper portion of the body and prevent the bloodless condition of the brain, which is responsible for the unconsciousness.

The natural impulse is to raise the head and body of a patient who has fainted. This is the worst possible thing to do. Feet high and head low is the rule.

Stroke.

The symptoms of stroke are very high temperature, ranging from 104 to 112 degrees F., congested countenance, heavy breathing and unconsciousness. This condition may be mistaken for apoplexy if the temperature is not taken.

The remedy is, in a word, cold. If it is not possible to give a full ice cold bath, wet cloths should be applied to the head, neck and chest and the extremities bathed in cold water. The application of cold must be continued until the temperature drops to normal and resumed if it rises.

The symptoms of heat exhaustion are the reverse of those above described. The temperature may be subnormal, the face is pale, and there is a condition analogous to shock, with a bloodless brain.

The treatment must be directed against these conditions. The application of heat to the body and extremities is necessary by means of hot water bags, bottles, etc. Coffee, essence of ginger or other stimulants should be taken internally. The reclining position as advised for fainting spells is also indicated.

Caution.—It is not unusual for physicians to be called in such cases to remove the heat by means of cold water. This will usually counteract the spasm, and the patient can be put to bed and other necessary measures taken, especially cleansing out the bowels, which may be most rapidly accomplished by an enema. A physician should, of course, be called.

Bleeding from the Mouth.

Sprains—in this condition there is laceration of ligaments, blood vessels and other structures surrounding a joint. The first treatment is to place the injured part in hot water and apply hot cloths for half an hour. The joint should then be bandaged, not too tightly, and kept at rest until the acute swelling and inflammation subside. Alternate applications of hot and cold water poured over the joint from a pitcher are often beneficial. It is a mistake to attempt continuous and treatment of a severe sprain. Months of suffering and crippling may result from neglect to secure early surgical aid. The X-ray has demonstrated that supposed simple sprains are often complicated by fractures.

Fractures.

When a limb is fractured the first step is to apply a temporary splint in order to prevent needless injury to soft parts by the ends of the fractured bone with material. A sterilized, rolled-up newspaper, canvas, etc., may be bound to the limb by handkerchiefs, towels or bandages until surgical aid can be secured. In fractures of the leg one leg may be bound to the other, if the skin has been broken the fracture is termed compound, and extreme care is necessary to prevent further laceration or infection of the tissues.

Wounds.

Slight punctured or lacerated wounds are often neglected or improperly treated. First, the fact that the wound is deep should be noted. For the reason that blood plugging and lockjaw are not uncommon, foreign matter, such as dirt, gravel, splinters, etc., should be removed. The wound should be cleaned as quickly as possible with peroxide of hydrogen, turpentine or some antiseptic solution. A sterilized gauze pad should then be applied and held in place by rubber adhesive plaster or gauze bandages. The use of strong antiseptics should be avoided. It is no longer customary. When the wound is infected, as evidenced by heat, redness, swelling or discharge of pus, the parts should be cleansed frequently with peroxide of hydrogen and a simple wet dressing applied as follows: A sterile solution of carbolic acid in boiled water, with a natural solution of bicarbonate of soda in boiled water. Antiseptic solutions kill germs, but they also interfere with the natural reparative work of the body cells.

Dangers of Carbolic Acid.

Carbolic acid should be handled from the household, except in the form of carbolic vasoline. This preparation may be useful to apply to cuts or sores in emergency, but the use of carbolic acid constantly applied to the extremities, fingers, toes, etc., have been known to cause gangrene.

Every useful remedy secured by carbolic acid as a household remedy can be served by simple nonpoisonous antiseptics, such as a saturated solution of boric acid or the official hypochlorite of the United States Pharmacopoeia. Diluted with several parts of water, this latter preparation may be used wherever a cleansing antiseptic wash is required.

Burns.

Probably nothing causes more excitement in the household than burns of the face, hands, or feet. The first aid is to soothe properly and promptly applied.

The most convenient and perhaps the best remedy to apply is ordinary baking soda. This may be applied in powder and the parts wrapped in clean linen cloths, gauze, etc., and then covered with cotton, or the bandage may be saturated and kept moist with a strong solution of the soda. Blistering should be punctured with a needle that has been sterilized in boiling water, but the skin should not be removed.

When a burn is very extensive immediate proper dressing is difficult. It is usually important to remove the shock and protect the burned area from the air. This may be quickly done by placing the patient in a warm bath, or by covering the burn with a strong solution of the soda. Between 94 and 104 degrees F. such treatment is often continued for a long time, replenishing the soda as it becomes contaminated. Stimulants internally are called for.

Ear Emergencies.

Accumulations of wax or foreign bodies in the ear should be removed by syringing with warm water or saturated solution of boric acid. Insects may be suffocated with a few drops of pure rectified oil and then removed by syringing with warm water. It is a bad practice to use oil in the ear for the removal of wax. If syringing with warm water does not suffice a physician should be consulted.

Rhache is usually due to inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. Heat should be applied by means of hot water bags, but clay bottles, Charapian's saffron, U. S. P. or hot fomentations. Hot water may be poured into the ear while the patient reclines on his opposite side. The heat retained, covering the affected ear with cloths saturated with hot water and the whole covered over with a bandage pad.

In old people, or those with a tendency to apoplexy, a hemorrhage from the nose may prove a relief and should be treated accordingly.

Where it is desirable to check a hemorrhage the application of cold to the nose and back of the neck will often be of service. Syringing with a solution of hydrogen is also an excellent emergency remedy. Syringing with a hot salt solution at a temperature of 100 degrees F. is an excellent measure. If the temperature of the solution is lower than 125 degrees it will only aggravate the hemorrhage.

CENSURING THE SAVAGE.

Countering the Counting Man in Distant Lands.

Even in the twentieth century, and in enlightened England, the census men will not doubt have some fancy stories to tell of ignorance and prejudice. But certainly none of their experiences will compare with those of the officials in the more distant parts of our Empire.

In remote parts of India, particularly, there have been some farcical attempts to evade being "censused"—attempts which, but for the good sense of the officials, might well have ended in anything but a happy way.

While the preliminary counting was proceeding, about a month before the final examination, a number of remote jungle tribes took some sudden and mysterious objection to the census, and, in consequence, of a warning, the whole community fled into the jungle.

The official listened attentively until the chief had finished. Then he said that that was not the idea at all. What he was really doing was finding out how many people would want rice in the next January, and that for those who were not counted no rice would be sent.

Every member of that tribe came back within a week.

But the counter was a head-headed Englishman, and he hunted out the headman, and asked him what all the fuss was about. In reply, the chief solemnly told that the tribe was afraid that the counting was but a preliminary to the branding of every member of the community, in order that the men might be sent to the carriers in the next war and the women deported to pick tea in Assam.

FASCINATING FURS.

Wear the Best if You'd Be Up to Date.

Our summer days demand something for drapery rather than lined scarfs.

The sixth ones are still worn, but in their original state. There is a band of fur around the edge, and there is a warm lamb's wool interlining.

Some are in the original length, others are finished just below the bust with weighted silk tassels that keep the ends down.

The fur at the edge is about two inches wide and as often brown as black. When this quiet little accessory is worn at the same time that a huge pillow muff is carried and to these are added the new scoop bonnet with its panache of plumes, a la directrice.

MARYS IN FICTION.

Her Majesty's Name to a Favorite One With Author.

One of the girls that the Queen will become more and more popular in the future is to be by the Marys of the Empire at the coronation of King George V. It is proposed that every Mary, Marjorie, and others with similar names shall contribute a small sum towards this gift.

Mary has always been a favorite name with novelists, poets, and playwrights. From "Mary, Mary, quite contrary," of our nursery days, to the "Merely Mary Ann" of Israel Zangwill, the name will be found scattered freely over the pages of romance.

The most famous novelist of all, Charles Dickens, whose centenary is celebrated this year, uses Mary in one form or another dozens of times. There are in his novels over a score of Marys pure and simple, to say nothing of Marthas, Mollys, and other versions of the name. Most of the Marys are, however, humble characters. There is Mary Anne, Dorcas's servant in "David Copperfield," or simple and good-natured Mary Ann who is the maid of the clerk Wemmick in "Great Expectations."

In the "Pickwick Papers" there are no fewer than five Marys. One was a servant at Manor Farm, another the wife of the Marshalsea prisoner, two were maidens in a pot shop and one to Nupkins, and the last was a barmaid at the Pudding Lane.

Not all the Marys of fiction are, however, placed in humble positions. Lady Mary Carlisle is the most important woman character in that delightful play and book, "Monstrous Regiment," the author of "Peter Pan" gives her first place in his novel, "When a Man's Single," as the bride of the aristocratic daughter of a very colony. And did not the famous dramatist immortalize her name in that best-known of all phrases and titles "Little Mary?"

In his "Little White Bird," too, Mary is the name of a little girl, a friend of the author who has such a great influence on the life of the supposed teller of the story.

In the late Count Tolstoy's "Resurrection" the Princess Mary Korchagina is the good woman who Prince Nekhliudoff expected to marry. Many well-known foreign novelists have been kind to this essentially English name. In Maarten Maartens' "Some Women I Have Known," for instance, Mary Bates is the good-natured, loyal daughter whose dearest aspiration was to become a Sunday school class of her very own.

Soldiers in Street Sieges. Street skirmishing is a rare experience for Tommy Atkins. Still, we had the Guards out for the Gordon Riots in 1793 and the Coldstreamers surrounding at dark, in 1830, the house in Cato street where some ten men were held to murder his Majesty's Ministers; and only a few years ago we had street skirmishing. The Guards, the Buffs, and the "Reds" were all present. "Ready! Present! Fire!" in Belfast streets.

Not often do our cavalry get a chance, as the 10th Hussars did at Tonypandy; but our Household troops have more than once been called on to do duty in the streets of metropolitan mobs—notably during the great Dock Strike in 1889. But the Cavalry is not the only force at work in quelling the disturbances of 1890 that the Life Guards were nicknamed "The Eccentrically Butchered."

And yet another cavalry regiment owes its nickname to the chances of street warfare—namely, the King's Dragoon Guards, who were called out during the Trade riots at Manchester and Blackburn some sixty years ago, and have been since called "The Trades Union."

"Lucky Lambton." So Sir Hedworth Lambton has often been referred to account of his many extraordinary escapes from death, and the nickname will be revived when the Duke of Devonshire's son, the Duke of Devonshire, is called to him $100,000 and the residue of her estate. One of the conditions of the bequest, however, is that he must assume the name and arms of Meux within a year. Sir Hedworth joined the service as a private, and was present at the bombardment of Alexandria and the capture of the Suez Canal.

In connection with the siege of Ladysmith, however, that he is especially noted for. He is described as "the life and soul of the garrison."

The Stone Army. Mr. P. H. Ditchfield tells in "Vanishing England" the story of the Ballistrer stone, a stone circle in Oxfordshire, which was said once upon a time to have been a king and his army, who were converted into stone by a witch who cast a fatal spell upon them by the words "More men, more men, stand fast, stone!"

King of England took shall none. The solitary stone is the ambulatory of a king, and was told by an ancient that if he could see Long Compton he would be king of England; the circle was his king and the five white knights are five of his chieftains, who were hatching a plot against him when the magic spell was uttered.

A Sermon to Miss. Mrs. Gladstone's famous husband went to Cannes one January, and Sunday morning, of course, they repaired to the English church. But when the sermon began Mr. Gladstone frowned and sighed and then whispered to Mrs. Gladstone fretfully: "I can't hear him."

But Mrs. Gladstone, whose ears were close to her husband, with a reassuring smile: "Never mind, dear. Go to sleep. It is no use you ever so much more good."

A Day of Eleven. At the opening of a Board of Trade inquiry at Newcastle recently the number of men employed in the shipyard was found to be eleven.

V.—Suggestions on Tree Planting.

(Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.)

What will give you a little more about planting. In illustration No. 9.

No. 9. You have what is a splendid arrangement for particular situations. The soil is shallow and the tree will never become large. Wisely, the Norway maple has been selected, and the double row is admirable when you consider the quality of the soil and the rather slow growing tendency of the tree. By the way, I am lecturing on trees from one end of the country to the other, and I find no tree better adapted to all kinds of soil and all kinds of climate except the few south of the Norway maple. It can be "spaced" at about twenty feet apart. While, as I say, in this particular instance there is no great objection to having them so close, yet in ordinary good soil it would be a serious mistake. In the time, they would grow one into the other and the beauty of the individual tree would be lost. Thirty feet is a good distance.

There will be noticed also that in this case there is a wide lawn between the sidewalk and the street. In such cases, usually, a tree will do fairly well, but where the trees are under no consideration should the tree be planted there, but on the inside of the sidewalk, where the roots will grow from the walk, as here seen. This gives the most magnificent results. In case the street should be asphalted there is still room for the roots to ramble and gather their food under the sidewalk; on the other hand, in the lawn. In Philadelphia, for example, the planting had been on the lawn, and the trees were "tree butchers" all been hanged, that city at the least calculation, as before stated, would have been $150,000,000. It is a good idea to have a tree writing for the people, so that they will not be misguided by unqualified persons who pose as "professionals" in planting and the care of trees. It has been the object of the average "tree agent" to sell all he can without regard to whether it is right or wrong in planting. Who is there that does not admire the glory of the individual tree, as seen out in the open field, for example? And who is there that will not gaze in loving admiration on the "tree agent" as seen in illustration No. 10? In the first place, too-thick planting is a waste of money for the trees, and second, when the branches interfere with the beauty of the individual tree is destroyed. Third, too many trees destroy the green sward, and the grass, a good, heavy sod, should always be produced in favor "clumping" or "grouping," but it should usually be off to one side and should consist of a number of kinds, so as to produce a woodland effect.

When ten years ago I published the crude old "Tree Doctor" the "tree agents" and "tree butchers" gnashed their teeth. But the people are getting wise and in a few years they will know how to plant and care for their own trees just as much as we all do.

An average man knows how to take care of his horse or cow. If your land is heavy the elm or sycamore probably will grow the best for you. If sandy and dry use the maples, birch, linden and oaks, especially the apple tree refuse to do anything in law, heavy clay land, but the pear, plum, cherry, plum and peach do well in it. In fact, all the trees will grow on clay if thoroughly underdrained and sheltered.

Happenings in and Around Frank

James Graham, of Edmonton was at the Sanatorium on Monday.

Corporal Bowers, who was a witness at the Massey trial at Moose Jaw, returned to Frank last week end.

O. E. S. Whiteside, general manager of the International Coal & Coke Co., was down from Coleman on Monday.

Mr. Colomer, president of the Canadian Coal Consolidated, Ltd., will leave for his home in France on Sunday morning next.

Ice cream and refreshments will be served on the veranda or the inside of the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium every Wednesday and Sunday all day.

We regret to learn that W. Simpson is confined to the house with an attack of sciatica. His many friends hope to see him around again soon.

Mrs. Wilcox will shortly leave to join her husband at Passburg where they will in future reside. Many will regret to see her leave Frank where she has been so prominent in church work.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church gave a successful concert and social in the Miners hall on Monday evening last. The large number present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The success of the affair is largely due to Mrs. Wilcox.

A night school is being held in the Methodist church every Tuesday and Thursday night. Mr. K. Kingston and Miss Paul are the teachers. Those whose early education has been neglected should take advantage of this opportunity to improve themselves.

Work on laying pipes from the sulphur springs to the Rocky Mountain sanatorium was commenced on Tuesday. Now that the frost is practically out of the ground, work on the laying of these pipes will be rushed with all possible speed so as to have the sulphur water running to the sanatorium by the 10th or 12th of April.

The Rocky Mountain Sanatorium, recently erected at the famous sulphur springs here, by the Canadian Coal Consolidated, was officially opened on Thursday evening last. An elaborate banquet was given to which about fifty persons sat down. This large and splendid building has been erected at a cost of nearly $100,000. It is furnished throughout in the most magnificent style and is one of the best sanatoriums in Canada.

A couple who have been married for forty years, and who never had a "cross word" between them, were discovered in New York recently. The truth of this statement is confirmed by neighbors who have known them for many years.

Sanatorium Is Great Attraction

The Lethbridge Board of Trade has decided to petition the Canadian Pacific Railway to put on excursion rates for every week end between that city and Frank. They will ask for rates similar to those enjoyed by Calgary people going to Banff.

The Rocky Mountain Sanatorium has already received attention from important circles, and with cheap rates on between Lethbridge and The Pass (which we feel sure the C. P. R. will grant) large numbers will visit this institute and will enjoy the week ends in one of the most beautiful spots in Alberta.

Successful Concert

A concert was given in the Miner's Hall at Frank Monday evening under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of Knox Methodist church. A good-sized audience listened to a programme that was equal to anything ever heard in Frank.

Mr. K. Kingston was the chairman, and interspersed occasional reminiscences between the various items.

A piano duet was given by the Misses L. Thomas and L. Blais. Solos were well rendered by Mesdames E. G. Clark, J. S. Murray, Miss Charters, Messrs McKee, Paton and C. Edgeley.

Recitations were given by Misses Mary Simpson and H. Paul. An instrumental solo, excellently rendered by Mrs. C. Edgeley, completed the programme.

The concert proceeds amounted to $26.35, which reverts to the Society's funds.

Great credit is due to Mesdames C. Williams and J. Wilcox, for the success of this entertainment.

Coleman Notes

The miners returned to work at the L. C. & C. Co.'s mines here on Friday morning last.

Our football players are all on the game and promise to continue their good work during the season.

The masquerade ball, given in the opera house on Friday night last was largely attended and was a grand success.

We understand that the miners at the McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Co.'s mines here will continue work and that things around Coleman will not be so bad during the strike as many think for.

Coleman Back to Work

The miners returned to work at Coleman on Friday morning last as the result of a conference held there the day previous between J. R. Palmer, of Lethbridge, solicitor for the Miners' Union, and Colin McLeod, of Macleod, solicitor for the International Coal & Coke Company. It was agreed that the matter in dispute be referred to a district judge for settlement. As stated in our last issue, this dispute was over a claim of about $900 which the company had against the miners' union for water and light supplied the miners' hospital and for which the union refused to pay.

A young French engineer has invented a new form of roller skates on which, he states, it is possible to travel at thirty miles an hour. The skates resemble miniature bicycles, and are fitted with thick pneumatic tires, and as the foot is raised a spring in the skates revolves the rear wheel, and causes the skater to travel at an extraordinary speed.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

J. M. Carter paid a business visit to Lundbreck on Monday.

Mrs. Brownrigg, of Hosmer, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Hallworth.

Mrs. P. Hart is improving from her rheumatic attack, and hopes soon to be about again.

Mrs. J. J. Walter is visiting relatives at Toronto, and will be absent from Bellevue for some time.

The union miners will go out on Saturday, and will stay out till an agreement is arranged with the operators.

Mr. Hueson, principal of the Frank public school, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Bellevue.

George H. Walter, brother of J. J., left during the week for Spokane, where he will look after some mining interests. Mr. Walter expects to be away for some time.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invariably bring relief to women suffering from chronic constipation, headache, biliousness, dizziness, sallowness of the skin and dyspepsia. Sold by dealers everywhere.

The first meeting for the year of the Bellevue Football Association was held last week. From the present outlook, Bellevue has every chance of making good on league work.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are safe, sure and reliable, and have been praised by thousands of women who have been restored to health through their gentle and curative properties. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Our gent's furnisher, J. J. Walter, has recently enlarged his store, and today this store is one of the best fitted and best stocked furnishing establishments in the Pass. Mr. Walter expects to handle a flourishing trade in the near future.

Rev. T. D. Jones preached a very interesting and impressive sermon at the Methodist church on Sunday night last, in which the rev. gentleman strongly impressed upon his hearers the great importance of honesty, truthfulness and morality.

In spite of the depression caused through the long continued inactivity of the mine, the services of the Methodist church are well attended. The singing is a special feature of these services. Last Sunday week, the Hillcrest quartette party delivered two invigorating pieces.

The Only Way

The number of deaths resulting from tuberculosis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever and many other diseases are carefully recorded and tabulated by the authorities. But of the number of deaths directly traceable to worry no such account is kept, yet all physicians know that these are by no means small. One constant source of worry and anxiety for the wage-earner or man of small means is, how he may make provision for old age when his earnings are but little more than sufficient to provide the daily needs. To such a one the Canadian Government Annuities scheme is indeed a blessing. In no other way can he get such wonderfully good returns for that "little more" he may have to invest, for it will when his Annuity begins enable him to spend the principal as well as the interest thereon without his income becoming smaller no matter how long he may live.
